Ellon Castle. - The Ellon Castle, from Manila, sailed on the 20th July, and made her passage east about, making her longitude between the parallels of latitude 28 and 30 She passed the Bashees with light, variable winds on 1st August; thence northarly weather, with heavy squalls, to the 7th. On the following day strong indications of a cyclone were observed, but by judicious management the ship passed clear of it. The Equator was crossed on 19th September, in longitude 168. E. Passed east of the Solomon group, and touched at Pleasant Island on the 20th September for supplies. As considerable discrepancy appears to exist on the charts' with respect to the position of this island, Captain Lemmax made some careful observations, and places it latitude 0.30 S, longitude 167.10 E. Fruiter. - The barque Fruiter, Captain Hamilton, has made an excellent run from llo Ilo of 47 days. Her course has been made diametrically opposed to that orlinarily adopted by ships coming from Manila, it having been shaped to the eastward of the Solomon Island group, instead of by Cape Leunin. Captain Hamilton relates of this passage as follows:—Passed through Bassilan Straits on 27th August. running to the eastward on a parallel of latitude 4. N., with strong winds from W. S.W., a strong current setting to E. by S. to S.E. at the rate of 35 miles per day. This continued until crossing the Equator in longitude 157 E.; light winds then prevailed, with a westerly current, from latitude S. to the southward of the Solomon group; strong S.E. trades were then met with, which carried the ship to abreast of Sandy Cape, the remainder of the passage being made with variable winds and weather. On the passage of the Fruiter from Amoy to Ilo Ilo, Captain Hamilton succeeded in rescuing 160 Chinese from a disabled junk.

THE 75TH REGIMENT.

By the Himalaya we note the arrival of Her Majesty's 75th Regiment to relieve Hongkong will be unfeignedly sorry to tity and quality? For Captain Mid- ner by Signor Zappa. lose the friends they have gained during the somewhat limited stay of the latter regiment in this Colony, while their departure will be a public loss in view of the efforts made by both officers and he is of course alone responsible. But men to contribute to the general pleasure and amusement. Such changes being, second officer deposed that "the crew however, essential characteristics of mili- consisted of eight South Sea islanders. tary life, there remains only the hope that their successors will, in like manner. do their best to enjoy themselves and give enjoyment to others, the more so as even enthusiastic colonists cannot assert that we are overwhelmed with amusements either as to quantity or quality.

lours two names, which have become household words—and words, alas, of bitter sadness to many-within the recollection of our most juvenile readers. The device of "The Royal Tiger" accompanied by the legends of "India." "Seringapatam," "Delhi" and "Lucknow." while several of the officers have served pay for them! before Sebastopol and in other quarters of the world where lighting was going on. The strength embarked for service here consists, as will be seen by the nominal list in our Shipping report, of the Lieut.-Colonel, one Major, nine Captains, of the facts attendant on the Dayspring's in Koo kee Alley. The case was as clear twelve Lieutenants, four ensigns, a Paymaster, Surgeon and Assistant Surgeon, and a large number of men. The average condition of Hongkong to be following is the programme :exceptionally healthy for its latitude and climate. The reports of the enormous death-rate which prevailed some few years since were unfortunately true enough but this was caused by a total neglect of all sanitary arrangements for housing. bedding, and medically attending th troops, which if carried into force with the present convict chain-gang would arouse the indignation of the community, and the expostulations of all who had the power of giving publicity to the scandal. During the stay of the 73rd Regiment here there have been, we believe, no deaths whatever distinctly traceable to climatic influence, if we except those arising from a disregard of the rules imposed on men by common sense in a tropical climate. And here we would add a word of warning for the benefit of our newly arrived guests. THE DAYSPRING AFFAIR. WE have already alluded in these columns to the disgraceful episode of the Day. spring. . The recent mail has brought us further particulars of the tragedy. We intend to take, steps to sift this matter to the bottom, but it is our decided opinion that with every possible publicity. charterers of the ship were Wohang & Co., the present gambling farmers, and the officer whose duty it was to survey the vessel as to her being properly manned and provisioned was the present harbor master and emigration officer. There can therefore be no difficulty in .00 instituting enquiries direct.

The evidence given at the Melbourne Criminal Sessions points conclusively to the fact of gross mismanagement and deceit somewhere; and this is not entirely fixed upon the Captain (Middleton) who has been sentenced to one year imprisonment for his share in the trans __ action. We do not say that he was not the sole culprit, but we do say that the evidence published does not satisfactorily establish the proposition that he is. Ac cording to the emigration officer's certificate, on her clearing from this port the Dayspring was fully provisioned for eighty days; but after the first fortnight the passengers complained that the reduced for human food." How is this assertion, sustained by the evidence, compatible with Captain Thomsett's certificate unless dleton's inhuman expression of opi nion, when remonstrated with by one of the Europeans and urged to issue a part of the ample cargo of provisions on board, "Let them die and be damned, how does the crew on board tally with the emigration officer's certificate ? DEAN MILMAN. (Jewish Chronicle.)

A good and clever Christian clergyman has just passed away from the scenes of his earthly labours to that unknown home in which, we hope, the righteous of all creeds receive their reward from the Universal Father whom they serve.

Henry Hart Milman, Dean of St. Paul's. is dead. An Anglo-Jewish journal would. Instead of | if not quite, for the first time in English its eyes aghast! But Earl Russell, when Prime Minister, formed a different and more rational estimate of Milman's qualifications; and a vacancy having occurred in 1849 in the Deanery of St. Paul's Cathedral, appointed the historian of the Jews to that important ecclesiastical dignity.

The two metropolitan Deaneries were thus, till quite recently, filled by enlightened and broad-minded clergymen-Dr. Milman being Dean of St. Paul's, and Dr. Stauley being still, happily, Dean of West

Dr. Milman also wrote a poetic play on a specially Jewish subject, the "Fall of Jerusalem." the drama referred to the siege of the Holy City by Titus.

The late Dean was born at Acton, in 1791; he was a son of Sir Francis Milman, physician to King George III. He was appointat a considerable disadvantage, whenever ed to the Deanery of St. Paul's in Novement bor. 1849. He died on the 24th September.

most of its hideous details, the result | that he enters upon them, he well knows to and the alarm of the old-groove party of his church, may be best understood from the concluding page of his history of our race. In that page he condemns the "harsh and repulsive aspect" which (we use his own words) "Christianity has too long worn." He calls upon it to "show itself as the faith of reason, of universal peace and good-will to man." There were bold words in his day -bold words in 1830 !

But Dean Milman did his duty thoroughly as a dignitary of the Established Church and certainly showed himself a better friend of Christianity by his respect and regard for the faith and race of its founder and apostles than do those who imagine that they settle their religion on a firm foundation by denying the one and reviling the other unconscious that when they strike their puny axes into the rock of Judaism, they undermine the moral truths of the church which the promoters of Cristianity erected on a portion of its stalwart surface and its umjestic height. Milman was a good Christian, a good writer, a good man. The prayers raised over his coffin according to the ritual of Christian obsequies will not be the less solemn because the Jews, whom he honoured, pray for the repose of his soul!

OBAT. FOR TIGERS, -The Petingi of the dessa l'andelun, Madura, lately one morning found, that one of his cows had been killed, and dragged away by a tiger. He immediately called his fellow villagers together, and on investigation, found half of the missing cow in a coffee garden. The Petingi thereupon adopted the following means for destroying the tiger. He sent one of his men out to seek for some raives (a prickly and itch-exciting plant) and this being brought to him, he pounded and made it as fine and powdery as he could, and then stowed it away, or hid it in the flesh of the mangled cow. The tiger, which returned the following night, ate of it; and in so doing his tongue came in contact with the rawee which of course found to be very unpleasant. He rolled about, and jumped of seven days, he was found dead. He had injured his tongue desperately. The wound had gone on festering, and occasioned his death. The Petingi received at the Lands kantoor f25 for the tiger's skin, and could reckon to have thereby made good his lost oow.-Java Bode.

Du Chailly thus describes costumes of the Court of King Diops; "The King words dress coat—and nothing else; his first Minister were a short without sleeves -and nothing else; the second Minister wore a necktio and nothing else ! the third was adorned with a hat—and nothing else but the Queen varied the fashion by wearing an umbrella—and nothing else."
